

Congratulations Dave McLaughlin, Ontario Traffic Council's 2020 Transportation Planning Professional of the Year.

Dave is a founding member of the Ontario Traffic Council's Active Transportation Committee as well a member of the OTC 2020 Conference Organizing Committee. He has presented at many past OTC conferences, participated in a number of OTC led training workshops, and served as a resource to OTC and its membership on active transportation planning and design, completes streets, and multi-modal design guidelines over many years. Dave was deputy project manager on the team that developed the original Ontario Traffic Manual Book 18: Cycling Facilities (2011-2012), and is currently leading a multidisciplinary team on behalf of the OTC for a comprehensive update to OTM Book 18.

Dave is a member of the Canadian Institute of Planners, the Institute of Transportation Engineers, ITE's Pedestrian and Bicycle Council, the Association of Pedestrian and Bicycle Professionals (APBP) and is the past Chair of the Ontario Chapter of APBP. Dave is a volunteer member of the Board of Directors of the Share the Road Coalition and was a member of the Province of Ontario Ministers' Cycling Working Group that contributed to the development of #CycleON Action Plan 2.0.

Congratulations Dave!
