

Transportation Planning Member of the Year Award

Mehemed Delibasic has been a very active member of Ontario Traffic Council (OTC) for over last 15 years. He is an active member of the Transportation Planning Committee of the OTC and has organized several workshops for the OTC that includes Environmental Assessments, Traffic Engineering and Safety, Transportation Planning, etc.

For the past 5 years this individual was one of the Instructors for the OTC "Transportation Impact Study (TIS) Course" and worked alongside two other committee members on the development of the OTC Advanced TIS course for the OTC, which rolled out last month. He has presented at many past OTC and TAC conferences and is co-author of the "Road Safety Program and Data Needs Assessment (2015)", prepared for the Canadian Institute of Transportation Engineers (CITE).

This individual is a long time advocate and volunteer in the engineering community and professional associations. In addition to his contribution to the OTC, he is a member of various engineering organizations, which are too long to go through now.

This year's Transportation Planning Member of the Year is Mehemed Dalibasic, Assistant Vice President of Transportation Planning and Traffic Engineering with McIntosh Perry Consulting Engineers and the new OTC Transportation Planning Committee Co-Chair.

Congratulations Mehemed!
